

2nd COSOSA Conference
3 – 4 June 2022, Durban, South Africa

The Cardio Oncology Society of Southern Africa hosted its 2nd Cardio-Oncology Conference, 3 to 4 June 2022 at the Premier Hotel Umhlanga, Durban.

We are overwhelmed by the excellent feedback received from the delegates who rated the meeting as very good and beneficial. In-person international faculty included Prof Alexander Lyon (Royal Brompton Hospital, London), Dr Susannah Stanway (Royal Marsden Hospital, London) and Prof Sebastian Szmit (Centre of Postgraduate Medical Education, Poland) as well as expert local faculty.

Various topics in Cardio-Oncology were covered over two high-impact days of learning, debates and networking. The presentations lead to stimulating discussions where, amongst other aspects, the importance of a multi-disciplinary team was highlighted.

We had more than 60 delegates attending the Pre-Conference Multi-disciplinary Fellows Workshop in-person and online. In-person and online attendance of the COSOSA Conference on 4 June exceeded 100 delegates from 23 Countries including Cardiologists, Radiation- and Medical Oncologists, Cardiology- and Oncology Fellows, Surgeons, Haematologists, Radiologists, Endocrinologists, Specialist

Physicians, General Practitioners, Pharmacists and allied health professionals involved in the management of cancer patients. The delegates rated the meeting, faculty and academic programme as excellent.

We hope to build on the success of this meeting with future educational events to further increase the awareness of Cardio-Oncology in Africa and improve the lives of cancer patients.
